COUNTY PRIMARY ELECTION GOES OFF QUIETLY

On last Saturday, Aug. 4th the Primary election came to a close and everything seemed to be quiet and no disorders of any kind have been reported. The Republicans voted around 3500 and the Democrats around 2500. This was one of the lightest vote counts in quite a while.

Some few upsets were noticeable in one or two of the races but as a whole almost to a candidate the nominees could have been picked and in many instances were days before the election. The Jailer's race on the Republican ticket was one of the closest in the contest, it not having been fully decided until the last two precincts were counted, John Gose coming out winner over W. M. Hall by only 21 votes. This was one of the hottest contested races of the entire campaign.

For Circuit Judge of the 35th Judicial District, Judge R. Monroe Fields with his usual vote-getting ability carried his district on both the Republican and Democratic tickets. This in all probability makes him the winner since no one will be running against him on these tickets in November.

The race for Commonwealth's Attorney was also interesting from start to finish, with J. A. Runyon winning over the present Attorney, J. E. Childers.

Kirby Ison, present Circuit Court Clerk won the nomination on the Republican ticket for Judge, while Arthur Dixon won on the Democratic ticket for Judge, neither candidate winning by more than 400 majority.

Herman C. Combs won by a good majority over Burnett Hogg for Sheriff, and S. M. Banks won the democratic nomination over Frank M. Haynes.

W. L. Stallard, Jr., led the ticket on the Republican side for Circuit Court Clerk. Astor Collins won over Ned Day for County Court Clerk in one of the hottest contests in the race. Collins and Stallard are both wearers of the Purple Heart for wounds received in this war. Collins' opponent this fall is also a wearer of the Purple Heart. He is Harry Caudill, son of Cro Caudill who had no opposition in the primary.

Billie Breeding won for Coroner over his opponent, Joseph Yonts. B. Dave Blair defeated W. H. (Hennie) Adams for Tax Commissioner.

Latest information from the court house states that Jim Stamper won the Democratic nomination for Circuit Court Clerk over Howard Caudill by a slim margin.

As we go to press we have not received complete report on all races including Magistrates and constables.

W. L. Stallard, Jr. Thanks Supporters

The votes are counted and I am very happy. I'm not rejoicing because my opponents were defeated, no indeed, I'm happy to know just how the people feel toward a wounded soldier, toward all of the soldier boys. After I had gone over the county and talked with the mothers and fathers, saw their tears and shook their trembling hands, I realized my election was certain.

I am sincerely grateful for the interest shown and the support given me in my campaign, and I thank each and every one of you from the bottom of my heart.

Gratefully yours,
—W. L. Stallard, Jr.

Russia Declares War on Japan

The big news at the moment is that Russia has declared war on Japan. It appears now that the war will end much sooner than many had anticipated. It may be a matter of weeks but most people think the war may end within days.

The New Atomic Discovery

Radios and newspapers are heralding everywhere the advent of a new discovery—atomic energy. Already we are told that a single atomic bomb has destroyed a Japanese city and probably killed 100,000 persons.

The possibilities for this new discovery we are told are almost too deep for the human mind to comprehend. We are told that it may in years to come make all other sources of power obsolete.

Let us hope, let us pray that the new discovery will be for man's benefit and not his destruction.

Let us hope also that the men who have control over this tremendous weapon will think and think seriously before using it to destroy an enemy. Killing hundreds of thousands of persons with a single bomb is too horrible to even think about.

Appeal By Lewis Ends Strike at Jenkins - McRoberts

Jenkins, Ky., Aug. 6. — A personal appeal by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, today ended a 29-day-old strike that had closed four mines, six company stores and five recreation centers of the Consolidation Coal Company at Jenkins and near-by McRoberts and cost production of perhaps 250,000 tons of coal.

Approximately 2,500 persons, a number of them women, crowded into the huge open-air mass meeting at the Jenkins baseball park to hear the U. M. W. chieftain's words. Back-to-work votes were approved almost unanimously by U. M. W. members and by store clerks and recreation workers who belong to the United Construction Workers, an affiliate of U. M. W. District 50, immediately after Lewis had spoken.

Says Hearing Assured
Lewis urged the workers to "put your grievances in my hands" and promised to handle the disputes "to the best of my ability."

The United Mine Workers head minced no words in telling the miners that "this strike is in violation of the contract with the company." He said that he "had driven 500 miles to speak to them because 'I think it is important to you and also to the United Mine Workers Union as a whole.'"

Elaborating, Lewis said that the U. M. W. did not want to get "a nation-wide reputation as a contract breaker."

Lewis told the strikers he had received assurance that a hearing on their grievances would be held five days after their return to work.

"Hard Times" Predicted
Then he advised the employees to go back to work and save their money for "hard times" to come in the future. Lewis did not amplify what he meant by hard times or when he believed such conditions could be expected.

Andy Wright, 69 Killed in Mine

Andy Wright, 69 was instantly killed last Thursday night when he came in contact with a high powered electric wire, meeting death instantly. He was a valued employee, having been connected with the P. W. Slemp Coal Company at Farraday.

The deceased is survived by his widow and several children, also a large number of other relatives and friends.

The Eagle Did Its Best

During the Primary contest The Eagle did its best to serve one and all, in a fair and impartial manner and regardless of politics. At times all our abilities and energies were sorely taxed, but in almost all cases we performed and delivered the services required. This we hope to do in the future.

We were also handicapped due to the fact that our old faithful linotype did not and is still not functioning properly. Parts and supplies are hard to get and in some cases one must wait for months for some particular part. However in time we trust needed materials will be available.

In the past few weeks several news items were omitted due to our handicapped circumstances.

The Tabulation

On back page of this issue we have endeavored to give the public a tabulation of both the Democratic and Republican vote counts. The tabulation is unofficial and a few errors may occur, but as a whole it gives a general idea of the county election returns.

We failed to get complete returns in the races for Magistrates and Constables.

Atomic Energy Bombs Unleashed To Pulverize Japs

Los Alamos, N. M., Aug. 6.—A ball of fire, many times brighter than the midday sun billowed skyward, followed by a blast which rattled windows more than 250 airline miles away in the first test of the atomic bomb, conducted by scientists and military authorities in the New Mexico desert July 16.

The steel tower from which the test of the bomb dropped today on Japan was detonated was vaporized. A huge sloping crater was left where the tower stood. Men outside the control center more than five miles away were knocked down by a heavy pressure wave.

Witnesses said a huge multi-colored cloud was sent 40,000 feet into the stratosphere in five minutes.

Small Amount Used.
"A small amount of matter, the product of a chain of huge specially constructed industrial plants, was made to release the energy of the universe, locked up within the atom from the beginning of time."

At Albuquerque, 120 miles away, a blind girl, when the flash of the test lighted the sky before the explosion could be heard, asked "What was that?"

Washington, Aug. 6 The most terrible destructive force ever harnessed by man—atomic energy—is now being turned on the islands of Japan by United States bombers. The Japanese face a threat of utter desolation, and their capitulation may be greatly speeded up.

Existence of the great new weapon was announced by President Truman in a statement issued through the White House at 11 a. m. eastern war time. He said the first atomic bomb, invented and perfected in the United States, had been dropped on the Japanese Army base of Hiroshima 16 hours before.

That one bomb alone carried a wallop more violent than 2,000 B-29 Superfortresses normally could hand an enemy city, using old type TNT bombs.

Just the Beginning
And bombs of this type are only a beginning. Truman said that while these are now in production "even more powerful forms are in development."

Nehemiah M. Webb

Last week it was our sad duty to chronicle the passing from this life Nehemiah Mark Webb. This, we felt, was one of the saddest things that had come to us since coming to Letcher County to live. Mr. Webb worked for us before we came to Whitesburg and during the time he was not connected with "The Eagle" and while we were living at Neon. It was indeed a pleasure to work with Mr. Webb; he was a source of the best information, always humorous and good company, giving the right advice when asked when asked for it. Mr. Webb loved his county, his people and his paper was his very life. He called the Eagle his "Baby" and fondly scanned each new issue as though it were something alive and could speak to him. He loved his family devotedly, and Whitesburg to him was the special place put on earth for people to live and love their neighbors and fellowman. Mr. Webb has often said to the writer, "Child, this is the best place on earth to live and we have the smartest boys and girls here of any place in the world."

Mr. Webb knew the County and its people better than any man during his time—he knew the history of the county and often spoke of writing a book about the pioneer families in the county. He had high ideals and always urged sobriety in every one and often an expression of pain came over his face when some friend of his would try to talk to him and be in an intoxicated condition. He always did his best to shape the morals of his people. His very best friends never really knew the depths of his thinking and especially of his prayerful thinking that our county would one day be the clean place that he desired it. In our travels over the county in our work he was always a great source of information and we never tired of his telling us facts and things of a historical nature pertaining to the county. He has often said to the writer, "There is the oldest cemetery in the county, or right there is where the first court that any record was made of was held in Letcher County." All of these things were interesting to one who was anxious to learn about the county and naturally Mr. Webb was an ideal person to travel with over the county.

At the funeral which was held at the Presbyterian Church on last Thursday, Eld. G. Bennett Adams did not have to go to the Bible to preach a funeral service for the deceased but instead simply went through some old files of his and read many of the uplifting things he had written about the passing of friends and Mothers Day, etc. His funeral was preached long before the remains of his body was brought to the church and that with his own pen.

The lovely flowers and the many kind friends who attended the last rites spoke better than we could write, the high esteem in which he was held among his people.

Letcher county has lost a pioneer who always had its best interests at heart. His family has lost a loving and devoted father and husband, all of us have lost a kindly friend.

Cannery News

We canned some corn the past week in the cannery, more will soon be ready to can. You want a good product, follow these suggestions:

1. Gather the corn while the dew is on it.
2. Shuck the corn at the cannery.

3. Cut the corn off cob in cannery.

4. Work quickly and get into cans as quickly as possible.

If you are canning the corn in your home these suggestions should be followed:

The past week, several have asked about canning chicken to send overseas. To can any meats, the meat must be thoroughly cooled. Watch the following:

1. Bleed and cool thoroughly—about 24 hours.

2. Bring enough chicken that will have a can of good pieces (thighs, drumsticks, breast, pully bone, part of wing).

3. The bony pieces may be cooked at home or canned and used at home at a later date.

4. Do not put liver or gizzards in with the rest as this gives an off flavor.

5. Old hens will have to be boned but I can show you how to do this in cannery.

If you are interested in sending any foods overseas, please come and talk it over with me. In about two weeks I will have information on making fruit cake and steaming it in cannery.

ANN DUGAN,

Joe Davis, Jr.,
"Better to Have Lived and Regret It Than Not To Have Lived at All."

Joe Davis was on the football field being banged around so that the football field was literally speaking, on him Joe was waiting on the big game Saturday night and when—Oh!! but let's go back approximately seventeen (with no reference whatsoever to Booth Tarkington) uneventful years to be exact to the first mishap in the life of Joe, namely his birth.

When Joe first entered this world, the glaring light of day hurt his eyes, so he had to keep them shut for about two days but when he opened them he realized how lucky he was to be a tax-deduction to such wonderful parents but I am sure they had rather pay the tax. Joe's Dad would have expected him to grow up and be president but he is perfectly satisfied with the present one.

Joe's first day at the school proceeded along nicely as he followed the path of any young genius. He played on the basket-ball team while in grade school and when he graduated from grade school he received the valedictorian, which I say to this day, the greatest mistake ever made by a teacher.

When Joe entered High School at Whitesburg, Ky., he tried out for the football squad but was injured and had amnesia for two days, due to Joe's unusual hair cut there wasn't enough heading for the hit received. Some people have said that he hasn't fully recovered.

Joe is now with Uncle Sam and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Davis of McRoberts, Ky.

A WIDOW'S HOME

There's a little shack near a country road
You would think no traveler called there,
But now and then a hungry tramp
A free meal there shares.

They pass houses along the way
Houses where wealth is shown
But they pass them by stop and call
Stop and call at a widow's home.

A widow lives there who oft recalls
Reading in childhood days
Of a widow who shared her last bread,
As she thought of her son far away.

When a small girl she would read and cry
Not knowing the very same fate,
Of the widow Mother she read about
In the future for her did wait.

That her own dear boys would roam about,
That she would give them in God's care
That she would be willing her last bread
With hungry travelers to share.

Long years she lived in the shack,
And her meager food she has shared,
Always trusting God to feed her own
Counting that as a great reward.

She thinks perhaps her own dear boys
May be somewhere hungry and alone

She wants to do for other Mother's boys
As she wishes others to do for her own.

So she gets a blessing in feeding those

No matter from whence they come
She thinks of casting upon water bread
That will return to her again

She knows that God has heard her prayers,
That her children should not want bread
And it lightens her heart when a weary tramp
From the meager table is fed

She prays for faith of the widow of old,
Who trusted God, who sent manna from Heaven
And deeded the last bread she had

With the son that God had back to her given.

I am the Mother who when very small
Read of the widow and her son

It has helped me to share what little I have
Trusting God for my own precious ones.

I feel God is pleased when I share what I have
With those more wretched than I

And my heart feels more light if I know
I have helped some one passing by.

I am glad to know God's spirit tells
In the hut by the side of the way

Lives one who knows what poverty means,
Who will share her last bread any day.

The reward I hope for is some time some where
When my boys are hungry and lone

Some one will give them shelter and food
That will remind them of Mother and home.

If they are given only a morsel of bread
They will think how oft mother prayed

To God to watch over her fatherless flock
No matter how far they might stray.

I would like to know how many who read this remembers reading the Widow of the Pine Cottage in some of the old school books, and can repeat it now. It has always stayed in my memory.

—Rebecca Jones

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui, many women say, has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "blues" to come. Started 3 days before "your time," it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes. Try it!

Dear Friends:

I am a good old Ky. boy from the big city of Whitesburg. I would like to be back there in the old town, now, too. I am now stationed at a replacement depot in Fort Ord, California. I have been here for almost two weeks now and I can say that Fort Ord is a swell place. It's a camp or Fort near the blue Pacific. In fact you can go out to a little town about 7 miles from here and see the Monterey Bay formed by the Pacific. We take a few days or weeks training here and then we are ready for overseas shipment. There are quite a few men here from Kentucky, Louisville, Lexington, Paducah, etc. I am the boy who used to work in the A & P Store upon the corner. How is Mr. Joe I. Day, Mr. Heermans, John D. W. Collins and all the rest of my friends. I sure would like to see them all now. I seem to be so far away from home and it feels sort of funny to be away from people whom you have been with so long I guess when you get used to people and live around them for 12 or 15 years, you feel like being in another world when you leave them. I want you to tell all my old school mates and teachers (Professor Stallard, Prof. Reed, Miss Dugan and the rest) hello for me and I hope to see them all in the very near future. I will sign off now hoping to be back in old Kentucky very soon. The picture above is my new G. I. haircut (I am called "Baldy") now.

Andy's Fishing Trip

Andy went a-fishin', he said to catch a bass, But all he got was a hungry lot, And a wet and muddy face. He dug some worms, and cut a pole.

And bought some hooks and line, And down at the river,—at the Petrey hole, He sat from one 'til nine. He visioned frying fish at home, And saw little Chester's glee. Oh, what a pleasant feast he thought

Is waiting there for me. "I must be patient," Andy said, Or else the fish won't bite, So he sat on a rock, from one o'clock 'Til nine o'clock at night. And then the rain began to fall,

In torrents hard and fast, And Andy suddenly realized The time had come at last, When he must leave the Petrey hole, And beat it home to Min, And all he had, was need for a pad, Where his seat on the rock had been.

Dear Dad, Mom, and Family,

I will try to say hello and to let you know that I am ok and safe, and hope to be on my way home by the 15th of August. Well, Dad I guess that you know that your son is a hero, I got the bronze star for saving a couple of men's lives. Taking ammunition to men that couldn't get through. You know me, I get my old truck to rolling and went right through the firing lines at about fifty miles an hour. So they must have felt sorry for me and gave me the medal. As you know that means five more points for me. Well, Dad I guess that Raymond is on his way home by now and McKinley I guess that he will be pretty soon too.

I had better close for now so give the kids my love and hope to see you soon,
Love,

Your son,
—Day Boy No. 3.

To The Water Consumers in Whitesburg Area:

WE ARE HAVING MANY INQUIRIES AS TO WHEN WORK WILL START ON THE ACTUAL LAYING OF THE PIPELINE AND BUILDING THE DAM AND FILTER PLANT FOR THE NEW WATER SYSTEM THAT IS TO BE BROUGHT INTO WHITESBURG; AND WISH TO ADVISE THE FOLLOWING FACTS:

No. 1. — On July 31, 1945, the contract was let to Coleman Trainor Construction Company, Huntington, W. Va., to excavate the site at the dam, and also to lay the pipe from the dam to the Caudill Cemetery. Said contract to start ten days after work notice is given, and to be completed one hundred days after work notice is given. This work order was given to the Coleman Trainor Construction Company this date—August 8, 1945.

No. 2. — An acreage of land has been purchased covering the water shed and site of the dam on the head of Pert Creek and actual construction of this dam will start within the next ten days.

No. 3. — The Rights-of-way for the pipe from the dam to the city limits have been acquired and said deeds are recorded in the County Court Clerk's office.

No. 4. — Arrangements are being made to start immediate construction of the Filtering Plant under the supervision of Frank Greco.

It is hoped that we will be working on all three projects simultaneously and that we may complete them at about the same time; — which will not exceed one hundred days and we feel sure that within four months from this date we will have water from Pine Mountain for the Consumers of Whitesburg and vicinity.

When these contractors and their personnel come to our city to enter upon this work would appreciate the citizens extending them a warm welcome and cooperate with them to the farthest extent so that they may finish this contract at the earliest possible moment.

When the Poles come marching HOME

THE removal of Government restrictions will soon make possible the construction of new lines bringing electricity to farms not now electrified.

As a business man, the farmer especially appreciates the "Know How," and, as a business managed industry, we have the sure knowledge and skill necessary to furnish dependable electric service.

Weather, that arch enemy of farming, does not stop us... we have no time out, no hours off. With electricity to aid him, the modern farmer doesn't have to just hope—he knows how it's going to be done, too.

The war has brought home to all of us the necessity of more attention to the health of our children and young people. The Kentucky Federation of Women's Club is leading in a program to educate our people in rearing healthier children and thus producing a more hearty race of people. To do this, it has planned to have three splendid health schools in Kentucky this fall, one at Lexington, one at Henderson and a third somewhere in Eastern Kentucky. Some of the country's most outstanding medical and health workers will be the instructors and speakers at these schools. The Federation will pay the expense of one representative from each club in the state to these schools, and she in turn will bring back to her home club the information and program that has been set up to fit Kentucky and Kentucky's children. Mrs. Robert Blake has been appointed the representative to attend this school from the Jenkins Younger Woman's Club.

Obituary of JUNIOR JENT

Monday morning just at day break the Death Angel visited the home of my sister and took from her the most precious baby. He was so sweet to the family and they only got to keep him seven weeks but still they loved him and wondered why God took him from them. They only had him for such a few days, but God needed another angel and he took Junior to fill the place around the Throne. They miss him only a mother can tell, but how wonderful it will be to know that they have treasures in Heaven. We have a little angel in Heaven and our hearts are broken but we are still living with Jesus in hopes of seeing her some day, then we will see Junior and the rest of the family that have gone on before to rest. We all want to thank the many friends who came to our home and the preachers, Rev. Dewey Sexton, G. B. Adams, Andrew Adams who spoke so many encouraging words and such sweet prayers. We also want to thank Mr. and Mrs. Dick Evans of the Evans Funeral Home who were so nice and kind to us all and God bless all the family and children that are left to mourn the loss. Just live for Jesus and he will help you through.

—Daisy Halcomb.
